

Announcing a new feature for the 2007 O'Brien Conference:

CONFERENCE CRONIES

Never been to the O'Brien Conference before? Don't know anyone? Well then, Conference Cronies is for you!

Sign up when you register and you'll be paired up with an experienced O'Brien attendee to show you the ropes, introduce you to other participants, and check in with you periodically over the course of the conference.

But wait...maybe you're a seasoned Conference attendee and you know the routine. Possibly getting a little bored?

Well, there are several changes and improvements for the 2007 Conference in Richmond! Conference Cronies is just the beginning. When you register for the conference, sign up to be a mentor for Conference Cronies! The program allows you to share your vast knowledge with a newbie. Just think...a new colleague to regale with your preservation stories of old!

Representatives of the conference planning committee will contact everyone who signs up for the program, make pairs based on interests, and arrange for Conference Cronies to meet at a designated location just before the opening luncheon on Thursday, October 18th. If you are interested in participating in Conference Cronies be sure to mark it on the Conference registration form!
